

Why Consultative Group as such?

P. 1

Were there developments in C9's operations, philosophy, etc. after Jan 50 which warrant mention?
(Discussion of C9 practically jumps from Jan 50 to "present") covered by last para p. 13.

Page 3. last para. There are voluntarily and unanimously agreed to.

or all determinations require unanimous consent of the participating countries.

Page 4. para "2" the use of the word "enables" leaves the impression that more has been accomplished (smoothly) than is actually the case, although the statement is technically correct.

para "3" (Item (f)) "embargo with respect to the special China items, should be distinguished from embargo re atomic energy items & munitions. I suggest substituting "control" for embargo, or omitting the word "embargo".

Base ^{para 4a} ~~question~~ ^{other} Chile and Bolivia should be included among countries that have partially accepted ICVD (ask commerce)

^{para 4b} Check Spain on TAC. Last information ^{E/ST has} indicated they have not fully accepted. (the preceding)
See if ^{either} Sweden ^{or Singapore} has accepted
FOIA would know)

Add Hong Kong & Union of S. Africa which accepted TAC

^{para 4c} Transactions controls not limited to transactions where goods are outside jurisdiction of country.

Check last sentence. Other countries ^{partially implementing} (having) financial controls are attempting or considering adoption of similar controls as soon as legislative or other legal requirements are completed.

All PK have either transactions or financial control and. Use of "anti-diversion" is awkward in last sentence

p. 6 para 5. The object was to provide less complex definitions, but in practice the description of identification of some items was made more difficult - e.g. copper wire bars vs wire or bar. (Example of certain size = bars).

p. 8 sec. para 8. Reference to "resistance to expansion of security trade controls" implies there is pressure for expansion, whereas the only effort is to add a few, new highly strategic items or to improve enforcement controls. ^{in a broad area}

p. 9 sec. para 9. Re. Differential. This para does not indicate either the origin or the extent of the differential.

st para

This para presents only one side of the philosophy toward E-W Trade: Soviet effort to obtain commodities ~~needed for their internal~~ essential to ^{their} internal development + operations, together with reference to Western attitudes towards controls should be brought into focus (same is discussed in last para, page 8).

The attitudes toward differentials might also be considered a part of the "philosophy".

Note: The ORA/OCT review staff noted that the statement is one sided but declined to raise objection or to ~~offer~~ suggest revision. CWA.

p. 16 last para. In my opinion, this para. would be more effective ^{+ complete} if the second sentence were omitted and the word "Furthermore" was substituted for the introductory phrase ("In another name,") of the last sentence.
